WINTER VIRTUAL SEMINAR

January 21, 2027

Michigan Association of Housing Officials

9AM Lead, Asbestos & Mold, Oh My!: This course provides attendees with a practical overview of the health and safety concerns associated with lead, asbestos, and mold in residential properties. Taught by Andre DeLisle of DeLisle Associates LTD, the course will focus on recognizing potential environmental hazards commonly encountered in homes, understanding applicable regulatory and safety considerations, and determining when additional assessment or specialized remediation may be appropriate. Presented by: Andre DeLisle – DeLisle Associates LTD. (Course No. 53826)

1PM Disability Awareness: Participants will gain a broader understanding of the range of disabilities, including both visible and invisible disabilities, and how they may impact communication, housing stability, property inspections, and compliance-related situations. The session will begin with an overview of State and Federal Disability Rights Laws, highlighting key protections and responsibilities. The second portion will focus on Fair Housing, with an emphasis on disability-related protections and considerations. Presented by: Michigan Department of Civil Rights (Course No. 51123)
